

EDxEDNYC 2015

JUNE 4, 2015

Hudson High School of Learning Technologies opens its doors to New York City educators for the first EDxEDNYC Conference on June 4, 2015.

The mission of the EDxEDNYC 2015 Conference is to build best practices, network with other innovative thinkers within New York City and to continue conversations around student engagement and inquiry. This conference is for educators by educators, with a focus on fostering discussion, questioning, reflective leadership and design-thinking within our schools.

EDxEDNYC CALL FOR PROPOSALS!

The EDxEDNYC 2015 Conference seeks to provide a forum for conversation, networking and design-thinking for New York City educators. This conference is for educators by educators, with a focus on student engagement, inquiry, blended-learning, project-based learning, travel, multiple-access points, elective programming, restorative justice, reflective leadership and design-thinking within our schools. Sessions will be less presentation and more conversation, so we can learn from our vast and collective experiences.

90-MINUTE CONVERSATION SESSIONS

Want to facilitate a conversation? Submit your proposal today! EDxEDNYC is seeking educators to facilitate meaningful discussions about current topics in public school education. The idea is to use conversation practice, rather than a presentation model to foster a dialogue with your attendees. Examples of conversational practice include: use of protocols, digital interfaces, co-creating a product, hands-on activities, etc. Submit your proposal today at www.edxednyc.com.

LUNCH TABLE 5-MINUTE LIGHTNING SESSIONS

Lightning sessions are quick slide-based presentations that tell a story. Using the PechaKucha method, presenters will give concise and meaningful talks on topics facing educators today. Five minutes, 20 slides, 15 seconds each. (See www.pechakucha.org) Submit your proposal today at www.edxednyc.com.

CONVERSATIONS ARE BREWING

We are open to hearing ideas about all topics, but see below for our four areas of interest and some sample topics. Start the conversations now using the hashtag #edxednyc
